Faculty Highlights

Pat Denholm co-chaired the “Future of Print in the Academic Library” conference at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison NJ, on Friday, October 5, 2007. The conference hosted speakers from around the northeast, including William Paterson University, Montclair State University and Lafayette College. Ms. Denholm also led the “For Every Book a Reader” panel discussions about the changing dynamics of access to print materials and how to stimulate their use in academic libraries.

The Sidney Silverman Library hosted a professional development day on October 8, 2007 for school librarians from northern Bergen County. Peggy White, Library Media Specialist from Pascack Hills High School (Montvale NJ) organized the trip with Pat Denholm, Director of the BCC Library. The librarians were here to gather input on how to prepare their middle and high school students for success in college. The sessions covered library instruction methods, media choices, curriculum challenges, and instructional technologies. BCC faculty and staff that assisted were: Mark Thompson, Joan Cohen, Katherine McGivern and Annemarie Roscello.
