Gallery Bergen at Bergen Community College

Gallery Bergen, a 2,250 square foot space located in Bergen's new West Hall with 167 linear feet of available walls, with temporary walls possible, is seeking proposals for group exhibitions (at least three artists) of contemporary regional artists and works united by a common subject, material or form. Working with an onsite gallery manager and an inclusive budget of $10,000, an exhibition curator would conceptualize exhibition, locate and arrange for loans of works of art, and oversee all phases of loans, shipping, installation, lighting, and de-installation. Projected duration of exhibition: February 15 – May 15, 2009.

Email queries to: James Bumgardner, jbumgardner@bergen.edu. Deadline for receipt of descriptive two-page proposal, checklist of works in exhibition and the lending sources, and 12 jpg images representative of works on view, mailed to James Bumgardner, Gallery Bergen, Bergen Community College, 400 Paramus Road, Paramus, NJ 07652, by Wednesday, October 15. Please visit our Web site at <http://www.bergen.edu/gallerybergen/about.html>

Bergen Community College Speaker Series 2008

Dear Faculty, Staff and Administration – Please join us on Wednesday, October, 8 in the Anna Maria Ciccone Theatre at 12:30 p.m. for a special guest speaker, Betty DeGeneres. Gay rights activist Betty DeGeneres is the mother of actress, comedian, and Emmy Award-winning talk show host Ellen DeGeneres. Thrust into the spotlight when her daughter publicly came out of the closet in 1997, DeGeneres quickly became one of the strongest and most visible advocates for gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender civil rights.

Betty DeGeneres is the Human Rights Campaign's first heterosexual spokesperson for its "Coming Out Project" and the author of two books: Love, Ellen: A Mother/Daughter Journey and Just a Mom. A passionate keynote speaker on diversity and equality, DeGeneres shares insights from her own journey to encourage audiences to accept and understand others, regardless of sexual orientation and identity.

Faculty Highlights

Dr. Dolce was invited to speak at the Bergen LEADS Conference on "Civic Engagement in Suburbia" on September 23 at the Park Ridge Marriott. He has also been invited to be the panel moderator at the American Conference on Diversity's Conference entitled "Cross Cultural Understanding of Life Changing Events" on November 7 in Hackensack.

Professor Florence McGovern, CPA, an Accounting faculty member in the Business Department, recently co-authored "Study Guide: Managerial Accounting," Pearson Prentice Hall, 2008.
